As of April 22, 2010, federal law requires that contractors performing renovation, repair and painting projects that disturb lead-based paint in homes, child care facilities and schools built before 1978 that a child under age six visits regularly to be certified and follow specific work practices to prevent lead contamination. Any contractor who disturbs paint in pre-1978 housing and child-occupied facilities including: remodeling and repair maintenance; electrical work; plumbing; painting; carpentry; and window replacement work needs to be certified. To become a certified renovator an individual must complete an eight-hour initial renovator training course offered by an EPA accredited training provider to learn how to perform lead-safe work practices.

If you are a General Contractor, Painter, Plumber, Carpenter, Electrician, Drywall or Insulation Contractor, Siding Contractor or anyone who disturbs paint in pre-1978 housing and child-occupied facilities and you have not yet taken the required initial eight-hour renovator training course now is the time to do so! Take the steps now to help protect yourself/your company from possible fines and penalties of up to $32,500 per violation per day and potential future lawsuits if you do not become certified as required by the federal law. Please educate yourself and/or your subcontractors regarding this law. (www.epa.gov/lead/pubs/sbcomplianceguide.pdf).
